Coffee Machine with Custom Built Bench

This option is for exhibitors that want to integrate a coffee machine into their custom-built stand design. A bench needs to be built with an appropriate amount of space underneath it for power chords, tubes, waste and water buckets and a hole in the bench needs to be cut for the chords to be passed through.

Building the bench to accommodate the coffee machine

- A hole, 10 cm in diameter must be cut into the bench under the coffee machine.
- The bench needs to be approximately 900mm high. This is an ergonomic height for a barista to work at.
- If the flooring of the custom-built stand is made from slippery material, a matt will need to be provided by the exhibitor for the barista to stand on.
- Two head coffee machine is approximately 520mm wide, 640mm long and 550mm high.
- Three head coffee machine is approximately 575mm wide, 990mm long and 540mm high.
